Forecast For Scotland
Issued by Met Office Aberdeen
at 0400 on Tuesday 20 Jul 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Mostly dry, and sunny, north cloudier. Hot in the southwest.

Today:
Western and Northern Isles and parts of the north staying cloudy and rather cool. Elsewhere across much of Scotland it will be dry, sunny and very warm, and hot in the southwest.

Tonight:
Most of the mainland dry, warm and sunny this evening. Low cloud becoming widespread across the north, east and central areas through the night. Warm in many areas.

Wednesday:
Low cloud burning off in the morning, although lingering in the northeast and Northern Isles. Otherwise dry, warm and sunny, becoming hot across some central parts and the south.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Remaining dry, sunny and very warm, hot across the west. Overnight low cloud may linger across parts of the northeast into the afternoon.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.